Why you feel you're more qualified than your opponent(s)

I am committed to public education and eager to apply my leadership and strategic planning experience to support our district's students, educators, and families.

Public education has shaped my life. My father and grandfather served on school boards, instilling in me a respect for educational governance. My father's tenure as a head basketball coach reinforced the importance of community service. My family remains dedicated to education—my parents are paraprofessionals, my sisters are educators, and my spouse taught for over a decade. These experiences give me a well-rounded perspective on the challenges within our schools.

I have served as a substitute teacher across all grade levels, coached youth basketball, and volunteered with O'Fallon Parks and Recreation. I hold an MBA from McKendree University and have extensive experience in leadership, budgeting, and long-term planning—critical skills for school board governance. Additionally, my two-tour service in the U.S. Army reinforced my ability to lead in high-pressure situations.

A major challenge in our district is the imbalance in student distribution among elementary schools. With growing enrollment and at least four of the schools, if not more, nearing capacity levels, strategic planning is essential. I will continue to advocate for data-driven decisions, responsible resource allocation, and transparent communication to ensure every student has access to a quality education.

I was appointed to the District 90 School Board last summer from a large pool of applicants because I understand that the district's challenges require nuanced, strategic, and long-term solutions. I am dedicated to working with the board, administration, and community to ensure our schools remain strong, equitable, and prepared for the future. I ask for your vote to continue serving our students and families.
